Council Prepares to Receive Pipe, Fittings for Waterworks

Plans were made on Tuesday evening at the Council meeting for the delivery of a large quantity of water pipe for the waterworks planned for the town, and tenders are being asked for now for hauling. Preparations for sewer pipe are being pushed as quickly as possible, also, and a suggestion was made that a contractor be sought in the near future.

This was learned at the Council meeting, which was attended by Mayor Patrick and Councillors Roberts, Baldwin, Ferguson, Chase and Quirin. Mr. T. S. Hughes was also present to discuss the progress made with regard to financing and supplies.

Mr. Hughes was asked to go further into the matter of pipes suitable for sewers, and obtain relative costs from a series of supply firms. Dates when material could be obtained are also sought.

Mr. Baldwin was appointed a committee to see what extra fittings might be obtained, and it is hoped that a considerable quantity of fittings, valves, manholes and so forth will be suitable.

Mr. Jack Bennett tendered his resignation as Town Handyman, and the resignation was accepted. It will take effect the end of the month.

The Town Policeman was present and discussed the matter of parking and traffic. The police report was read at the meeting, reporting one lock-up of transient, and one fine for a liquor count.

The lot between Ronny and Ray's Market and Strathmore Motors on Main Street was sold to Mr. Graham, and a parcel of land north of town was sold to Mr. George Smith.

A brief but searching survey was made of the poll tax situation in town, and it was learned that many citizens eligible to pay have not been assessed. The secretary was instructed to see that their names were added to the list immediately, and a further check will be made to see what additional names may be added.

The school requisition, final one for the year, amounting to $2529.41, was ordered paid, as were accounts totalling $378.00.

School Fair Starts

The Annual School Fair for the district is being held Friday and Saturday with the following schools entering: Carleton Place (4 rooms), Nakama (2 rooms), Nightingale (2 rooms), Nakama Farm, Balmtree, Turner, Strathmore (9 rooms).

Judges are as follows: For School Work—Mr. M. MacLeod Supt. of Wheatland S.D. and Mr. Geo. Wilson Supt. of Calgary Division; For Sewing and Cooking—Mrs. Garrett and Mrs. Ian MacKenzie; Mr. Milligan and Mr. Nicholls of Calgary for the Agriculture Exhibits.

This is an Annual extra curricular event that merits the interest and attendance of everyone.

Frank Peebles Sells Strathmore Electric

Following three and a half years operation in Strathmore under the name of Strathmore Electric, Mr. Frank Peebles last week-end sold his business to Strathmore Motors. Mr. Peebles opened the shop following his discharge from the RCAF in 1945, and operated a general repair business not unlike the Wal-Mart and Bobbie shop of funny paper fame. While he did not use their motto: "We tackle anything" Mr. Peebles was nevertheless rarely stumped by a customer, and frequently manufactured his own equipment to do the repairs required.

Closing with the shop, at least temporarily, will be the radio repair business operated by Mr. Malcolm MacKenzie. Mr. MacKenzie operated first only as an accommodation for a few friends, but the friends grew so many, and the accommodation took up so much time, that he

"Not many people in Strathmore can go back twenty-five years, and fewer still are working in the same place now as then. But this month marks the twenty-fifth year in which Mr. Lester Jones has been employed with The Strathmore Standard."

Starting under Mr. Jack MacKenzie, now of Rothsay, Scotland, Lester spent two years turning out The Standard, and the Carbon Chronicle, (which was published by Mr. MacKenzie in those days). Then in 1926, The Standard was purchased by the late Mr. A. A. Moore, who operated the business until his demise in 1933, when his widow, Mrs. A. M. Moore, assumed control. Through all of those years, Mr. Jones continued to set the type, and to print the paper. Indeed, he was essential to the operation. For Mrs. Moore, though a capable editor in the front office, readily admits she knew nothing about the mysteries of the back shop, and depended heavily on his assistance.

When, after the war Mrs. Moore sold the paper to her grandson, C. A. MacLean, Lester continued with the firm, and is now probably the

Explorers Elect Trudy Harwood

The Explorer Group of girls, under the leadership of Violet Lugg and Miriam Ekes, held their first organized meeting last Monday at 4:30 in the Memorial Room of the United Church. Officers elected for the year are: President—Trudy Harwood, Secretary—Treasure—Shirley Roberts, and Vice-President—Irene Bennett. There are fourteen members of the Group at present and all girls between the ages of 8 and 12 are welcome.

The girls are planning a Halloween party for the near future, and already are discussing preparations for a Christmas pageant. Other activities are so far somewhat undecided, and will be formulated in weeks ahead.

established the radio repair section of Strathmore Electric.

Mr. Peebles' plans are as yet somewhat indefinite, but he plans on taking a more or less extended break before trying into another firm. Residents of Strathmore and district are likely to miss Frank and his repair business, which took care of so many small items which would otherwise have been a real problem.

Nu-Way Cafe Opens on Weekend By Mrs. Lockhart and Partner

Change Transf'rmer

The main transformers on the Calgary Power Company's line into Strathmore will be changed sometime late this week, depending on weather and rain conditions. The transformers are at present one hundred percent overloaded, and have not been changed before only because of the shortage of equipment.

The transformers are located on the east highway near the Klaiber farm, and power crews report that they are so hot these days "you could fry an egg on them."

The original intention was to make the change on Wednesday afternoon, when most businesses would not be inconvenienced, but plans had to be changed, and Thursday is the likely day. (If it is Thursday, The Standard will be late this week.)

W.M.S. Hold Thank Offering Meeting

The Annual Thank offering meeting of the W.M.S. was held in the form of a social tea at the commodious home of Mrs. Klaiber Tuesday afternoon with quite a large number present.

A very interesting reading by Mrs. Caldwell was given and some music added to the programme. A pleasant social hour followed over the coffee cups. Slides of the Book of Studies for the year were expected but failed to arrive on time. The meeting was conducted by the

Succeed Wong in Club Cafe Premises

Following extensive alterations and redecorations, the Nu-Way Cafe will be opened Saturday at the corner of Main Street in the premises formerly known as the Club Cafe. Mrs. L. C. Lockhart and a partner, Mrs. Harris, have taken the building over, and will operate a modern restaurant here in the future.

Operating for years as the Club Cafe, the counter was well patronized and well known in Strathmore. Operated latterly by H. Y. Wong, it gained its greatest favour when operated by Look Lum, who grew up in Strathmore before opening business. It passed from Lum's hands to Jim Howe, and from him to Wong. Wong left last week-end for Calgary, and expects to look into a business proposition in Harbin.

The booths have been torn out of the present restaurant, and paint and dirt have been scraped from every last hiding place, before the job of repainting was begun. The new paint job is done in soft shades of cream and rose, and add considerably to the light and warmth inside. The kitchen is being cleaned out entirely, and Mrs. Lockhart and Mrs. Harris are installing new equipment in several places.

The job is expected to be finished by Saturday, when the store will be open for business. Full course dinners as well as light lunches and snacks will be served throughout the day.

President Mrs. McMurray.

Lester Jones Marks 25 Years with 'The Standard'

MAKING UP TYPE . . . . . is a job which Mr. Lester Jones

senior employee in any local firm. A very few businesses are operated by owners with as much time to their credit, but there are few employees who have spent twenty-five years at the same old stand.

Lester Jones Given Clock At "Home Town Weekly" Film

Crowd Sees How "Weekly" Fits in.

Portraying many ways in which the weekly paper fits into the life of the community, mirrors its development, and encourages its advancement, the film is designed to give a better perspective of the broad picture. Following presentation of the film, there was a short intermission before the other pictures, during which Mr. T. S. Hughes gave a brief account of the way in which The Strathmore Standard has fitted into the life of Strathmore and especially lauded the successful work done by Mrs. Moore.

At the end of his remarks, he introduced Mr. Chuck MacLean, present publisher of The Standard. The film was particularly appropriate at this moment, Mr. MacLean told the audience, inasmuch as it introduced National Newspaper Week, pointing out the importance of a free press in maintaining a free country. Additionally, it emphasized the job done during the past quarter of a century by Mr. Lester Jones, who has completed twenty-five years working with

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Strathmore Standard, established in 1909, a member of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association is published Thursdays at the Standard office, Strathmore, by Charles A. MacLean, Editor and Publisher. Subscription price, $2.50 per year in Canada; $3.00 per year outside Canada.

Member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Authorized as second class mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa.

QUARTER-CENTURY

Twenty-five years ago this month Mr. John MacKenzie employed a new man at the Strathmore Standard. He is still with the Strathmore Standard. He is Lester Jones.

The publisher has changed three times in the interval, but Lester has continued all through, so that many readers who have no notion of who the editor is, think of The Strathmore Standard and Lester Jones at the same time. And it is only natural that in this many years he should leave his mark on the paper.

Lester — only salesmen call him "Mr. Jones", some people don't know he has a last name at all, but everybody knows him as "Lester" — has a host of friends throughout the community. He went to school here, he started work here, and he has continued to live here. And through the passing of years, he has built up a wide circle of friends. They know him, and like him, as a quiet, but friendly sort of chap, interested in the community, and willing to work for it.

A lot might be said one way and another in a case like this, but we think it's sufficient to say that it's probably for the same reasons that we like him, and that we hope he'll be here another twenty-five years.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

This is National Newspaper Week, and while there are possibly many other subjects I might discuss in this space at this time, I propose to devote a little attention to the newspaper subject. It is, by heredity, occupation, choice and pay check, closer to my heart.

Sitting here, propped up in front of a typewriter, I am free to write anything I desire just so long as it is within the bounds of common decency and the liberal postal regulations. I can publish that writing in my newspaper and send it through the mails into the homes of this community. I need show this column, before it is published, to no one. I am the sole judge of what will occupy this space this week.

Here in Canada we call that "Freedom of the Press." It came down to me, as a marvellous privilege, from the men who founded our country. It is not a "smart alec" right which I can abuse, because it is governed by the needs, requirements and good judgment of the people of my community. They demand of me the truth wherever it is possible to obtain it, and accuracy in my reporting. They can, by the very weight of their collective opinions, put my humble opinions out of business.

So, then, Freedom of the Press, as we celebrate it during National Newspaper Week, is not merely my freedom to print what I please. It is, let's say, my right to say what I think in my own newspaper providing I do not offend the patriotism, the good morals and the collective better judgment of a majority of my readers.

This is a marvellous privilege, compared with what the Press of the rest of the world enjoys. Only free men enjoy the right of a free press . . . but it is also true that only a free press can guarantee and maintain the rights of a free people. Sitting here, I can write that I dislike the policies of my government and my cabinet ministers; that I don't like the way the army is being run; that church services will be held next Sunday. But the larger portion of the world today, editors and writers, can't say those things. A man who writes for a government-controlled newspaper, or the dictator press, can say only those things which are put in his mind by his bosses. And when that happens, the people who read those newspapers are no longer free.

So I would say that National Newspaper week is just as important to you, the reader, as it is to me. It isn't a week in which you are expected to eat more apples, buy a lapel button or don your straw hat. It's simply a week in which, thoughtfully and of your own free will, you should resolve that you will do everything in your power to keep the press of Canada free.

In that way, you will simply be guaranteeing the continuation of your own Freedom!

THANKSGIVING TIME

Coming west on the train recently we held quite a lengthy conversation with a man who had only two days before arrived in Canada. A year previously he had escaped from Poland into Sweden. And he was not slow in pointing out a number of the things for which we in this country have reason to give thanks.

In comparatively good English . . . he had learned the lingua franca way just six months earlier. . . he told of many features in connection with the occupation of Poland. How they had gradually, but systematically, been deprived of any rights of free men. How they got barely sufficient material supplies to keep them going, and of how everything else was milked away from them. Of the restrictions on travel. . . it is necessary to secure a police pass to go from one town to another, as for instance, from Strathmore to Namaka. Of the manner in which the accumulation of personal possessions is effectively blocked. Of how little value is placed on personal life, compared with the tremendously high value we place on it. Of how he and all members of his family would have been killed, no questions asked, had they been discovered in their escape. Of many other features and phases also.

Used to all our privileges as we are, we oftentimes are so familiar with them

In Others' Words

John Fisher Reports

Those who heard John Fisher on Sunday night heard, in brief, the story of the Niagara Newspaper convention, and in it they heard the story of Canada for the past eighty-five years in his account of the Huntingdon Gleaner which recently celebrated its 85th birthday under the ownership of one family. The Downsville Statesman was another of the Canadian Weeklies to celebrate a family ownership birthday, and these two are among the oldest of the Canadian weekly newspapers. The oldest is possibly at Cobourg or in St. John's, Quebec, where its editor, Mr. L. G. Gage, celebrated the 100th anniversary last year. — The tie-up between the local and the political life of the country was high lighted also on Monday night when Premier George Drew remarked in the course of his speech that he understood that speeches of his grandfather were still on record in the files of the Elera Express, and possibly in the Fergus papers of that date.

More and more it becomes a recognized fact that the beginnings of Canada were in the so-called grass roots. In every gathering a poll would probably show about nine tenths of the important men or women present to have been born in small towns and in all probability to still have close associations there. So it was particularly appropriate that John Fisher should tell on Sunday of the meeting where the weeklies, large and small thrashed out their individual problems last week, and tell it to the audience which his broadcasts, which have their own particular personality and appeal, hold in thrall every Sunday night. And that his particular audience awaits him with interest is proved by the phone calls which came to the house, worrying because the change over in time had so many people all mixed up — and we did want to hear John Fisher reports."

Well, John Fisher reported and the weeklies are very happy about it all, or should be, and the people who read the weeklies are very happy too, because in the small towns with the grass roots, little bit of national fame is relished by the best of men and everybody likes to know "What did you do at the convention?" Thanks a lot, John.

Some People Had Their Money On a Lucky Number

This is another year when the common sense advice given out over the years by departments of agriculture and their representatives has proven to be good, sound advice.

Reference is made to the advice given farmers in the Peace River Country to diversify their farming activities, in other words, to take up mixed farming, in preference to grain gambling which is indulged in so much here.

Many farmers this year had "all their eggs in one basket" and many fields on which depended the immediate future of the farmer, are not worth the expense of threshing as the result of frosting. Other fields will not contribute much to the farmers' welfare during the coming year.

There are many good crops — of the lucky farmers — which reminds one again of ordinary gambling — someone nearly always wins.

The farmer who is really independent, who has enjoyed and is enjoying that much desired security, is the one who has other departments to fall back on when one department fails.

—Peace River Record-Gazette.

Pertinent Topics

The ease with which people accept dictation and the readiness of our rulers to hang on to arbitrary powers and extend them bid us beware of any assurance that what is happening elsewhere cannot happen here. When the Prime Minister can tell his party in any riding who its candidate shall be and has some power also to influence other parties to run or not run against him, we are not far from the condition which many European countries are in of having our electoral system turned into a pallid counterfeit presentation of free and unfettered choice. Fortunately the electors still have a chance to register a protest as they did before. High River Times.

Sarcees Loath to Retain Camp

The lease on 11,050 acres of Indian property held by the Canadian army for the Sarcee Military Camp expired a few days ago and the Sarcee Indians are reluctant to let it be renewed. D. J. Allen of Ottawa, superintendent of Indian reservations, said in Calgary Wednesday.

The Indians want to use their own land for agricultural purposes, feeling they can make more money out of it that way, said Mr. Allen. They now get 10 cents an acre.

The expired lease would probably be extended until the end of this year, he said, by which time a new permanent settlement should be reached.

The Sarcee Reserve is six miles wide and 18 miles long, and its northeast corner touches the southwest corner of the City of Calgary. —The Albertan.

as to take them for granted; almost to hold them in contempt from familiarity. It may be that we would be wise this Thanksgiving time to sit down and try to construct our way of life in many of the European countries. . . then to compare it with our present way of life. We would doubtless find plenty in this one instance for which to be very thankful.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Do you know why the setting sun is red? What language is spoken in Brazil? How political candidates are chosen?

No, this is not a quiz! It is a way of suggesting that there are countless subjects which most of us never explore.

Yet there are very satisfying rewards waiting those who acquire general knowledge on any subject. The mere act of learning facts has a beneficial effect on one's personality, apart altogether from the usefulness of the information itself.

Where to start? Perhaps the most useful subjects are those related to your work. Next, you might study economics, psychology, history, or whatever else appeals to you and build an interest in it.

Such a program helps make you a more effective worker, a better developed personality and a more interesting conversationalist!

It may surprise you to learn that people in 64 different countries buy life insurance policies from Canadian companies—a fact which proves that Canadians are not the only people who have confidence in these companies and their efficient operation.

WORLD'S FIRST GAS TURBINE
CAR ENGINE

Greatest interest in the British Industries Fair in London and Birmingham is centred around the world's first gas turbine car engine—a new British invention which is expected to revolutionise the world's motor car industry. The engine is the invention of Richard Barr and Geoffrey White, engineers, and Harry Leach, draughtsman, all former members of the Government-owned Power Jets organization, and now in business on their own account. The engine is the smallest gas turbine ever made and can be installed in a standard car frame. It has 160 brake-horsepower and has a performance equivalent to that of a petrol-driven car of 35-40 horsepower. Unlike the petrol engine, it has no pistons, no cylinders, no row of sparking plugs, no radiator and no clutch. It runs on diesel oil and uses a negligible quantity of lubricant—it will run on anything which will produce a continuous flame—petrol, paraffin, or even old candles.

Aids Vocabulary

(Reprinted from "How to Get the Most Out of Your Newspaper"
New York Herald-Tribune)

The newspaper is a helpful aid to anyone who wishes to increase his vocabulary. Most of the language in the newspaper is living language—basic words well within the range of the average vocabulary. But because of the nature of the news itself—especially when it touches on technical fields—there is the chance to annex a constant supply of new words, and hence new knowledge.

For example, how many of these words selected at random from Canadian newspapers over one weekend would you be able to define as they stand?

ameliorate, bipartisan, bloc cartelization, caucus, constituency, comedy fluvial, injunction, isobars, lien, multilateral, plenary, pundits, rap prochambert, reprisal, resurgent, sabotage, subpoena, trilliums, tryptophane, virtuosity.

The secret is, of course, that in a newspaper you meet these words in context and can generally get their meanings from the words around them. Obviously, if you find trilliums growing in the garden section, you would know that they are not the numerical family after billions, but plants. And the tongue-twister, "Tryptophane," would never be used by a skilful science reporter without the explanation that it is an organic acid, essential to body life.

The more newspaper reading you do, the more you are unconsciously improving your vocabulary. (Doing the crossword puzzle is a kind of vocabulary callisthenics, too!)

Perspective

A farmer was plowing a meadow
In typical indolent style;
Lamenting his choice of occupation
Over each weary mile.
Looking up he spotted an aeroplane
Silver etched against the blue:
Said he, "Though born to tradition,
And a farmer to be, 'tis true,
How I wish I were that lucky fellow
Up there avoiding the blue."

The pilot looked down on the meadow,
With its various shades of blue,
And spotted the indolent farmer
Driving the plow and team:
Said he, "What a lucky fellow,
Not a care in the world I see;
No rushing across the Atlantic,
And back to the bangier like me;
I'm hot for many a dollar
He wouldn't change places with me."

HERE'S WHERE WE STAND ON NEW-CAR SELLING

General Motors Dealers' "Foursquare Selling Policy" assures you a Fair Deal when you buy a new car

Let's bring this subject right out in the open. Many conditions still exist which encourage the "gray marketing" of automobiles. You don't like this — and neither do we.

There's no law against "under the counter" deals — demanding a bonus for early delivery.

There's no law against loading cars with accessories the customer doesn't want or need.

There's no law against selling to buyers who make it their business to resell new cars at inflated prices.

But We Don't Do It Because It's Not Good Business

All dealers buy cars at clearly established factory prices which with the exception of transportation, are the same, model for model, all over the country. All start on a fair and equal basis — and should therefore sell at these fair and reasonable delivered prices.

So we're making public announcement of our code of fair dealing.

Our foursquare selling policy, simply stated, is this:

1 NO PADDING OF PRICES

We guarantee our delivered prices to conform with the manufacturer's recommendation and to contain nothing but standard charges which, of course, include Sales and Excise Taxes. You receive an itemized bill of sale. All prices are an "Open Book" — they are available to you and we sell at these listed figures.

2 NO LOADING OF UNWANTED ACCESSORIES

All cars are offered with factory-installed accessories only and prices are figured to cover these. We pledge ourselves to add no "extras" except those each customer orders — and to avoid using "extras" to increase the delivered price.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our loyal customers and friends for their patience in awaiting their turn for delivery of new General Motors cars.

Although the popularity of General Motors cars is unprecedented, and the supply is lagging far behind the demand, we are doing our utmost to be fair and equitable in their distribution.

3 TRADE-INS DESIRED — BUT NOT COMPULSORY

We will take your order for future delivery, without requiring a trade-in. However, we have many valued new-car customers who also depend upon us to supply them with automobiles. For this reason we would like to have your trade-in, and we'll give you a fair and reasonable allowance for it.

4 NO COLLUSION

While we cannot prevent our customers from reselling new cars, we will not knowingly be a party to such transactions. Our only interest is to deliver new cars to bona fide customers.

We present this platform because we believe it's good business to keep our customers informed.

It's a platform that gives you a fair deal when you buy a new car — exactly the same kind of a deal and treatment you got before the war.

If you wish additional information, it will gladly be supplied by any dealer whose name is signed to this announcement.

Famed Passion Play

As a direct result of the war, which drove the famed Luenen Passion Play out of Europe to a haven in America, the people of Calgary instead of having to make a pilgrimage abroad, are to have the opportunity of witnessing the production of this superb Biblical drama right in their own community. Now known all over America as the Black Hills Passion Play of South Dakota, this organization of talented artists is being brought to the Grand Theatre, October 18 through October 23, by the Calgary Lion's Club as one of its all-around contributions to the cultural life of the community.

The club's share of the proceeds will be devoted to the Salvation Army Children's Home, Woods Christian Home and Lacombe Home and nothing is to go to the Lion's Charitable fund according to Donald Oaks, president, who announced that mail orders for tickets, ranging from $1.10 to $5.25, tax included, are being accepted at the Passion Play headquarters in the Holman Music Store, 329 - 8th Avenue West, Calgary, Phone M4200.

There will be six evening performances October 18th through October 23rd and matinees on October 19th, 20, 21, 22 and 23rd at special student rates, for the children of all public and separate schools in the city and country. Student tickets will be sold at 55 cents, adults at $1.65 and $1.10, tax included. These are general admission.

The man with probably the most unusual profession is Josef Meier, read since infancy to portray the Passion Play role of the Christus. This is his 16th year in his production's leading role.

Meier's wife, Clare Hume, plays the part of the Virgin Mary. She was a radio actress in Chicago before her marriage.

Meier first played the Christ Child in the manger at the age of 10 weeks. As he grew older he was given other small parts in the play. When he was 26 he stepped into the role of the Christus, for which he has been trained from infancy.

Strangely enough, when not on our, the man who portrays Christ, turns cowboy. At his Spearfish, South Dakota ranch, Meier rides the range, doctors sick dogs, and wears a 10-gallon hat.

The Voice Of The People

"Let the People Have the Truth and All Will Go Well"

"Your right to know is the key to all your liberties."

Few slogans could better express the place of the free press in the Canadian heritage. No right is more important to free men than the "right to know." But there is a corollary right—a right indivisible from that right. It is the right to let others know what you know—or even think you know.

The newspaper owes an obligation to the second right that is almost as solemn as the one owed to the first. Its first and most commanding duty, of course, is to see to it the public gets the facts as objectively as it is humanly possible to present them. But, in addition, there is the duty to give the public the opportunity to present facts it knows and the interpretation it makes of the unfolding developments of the day.

A Traditional Right

The press has traditionally recognized the right. There are not many publications in the country today which do not devote space to letters from readers. Some call it "Voice of the People," "People's Forum," "Letters to the Editor," but whatever its caption, it is a constant reminder that the owner and publisher recognize that there is a qualification imposed on his property right—a qualification requiring him to publish editorials from the most important editors of all—the people.

"Bawl Out The Editor"

They have developed what might be called a proprietary interest in their section. So pronounced has this attitude become that contributors do not hesitate to write or call the editor to bawl him out when a letter does not appear when they want it, or when it is censored because of libel or the unwritten laws of good taste.

If a "voice" section is to be successful the people must never be discouraged from feeling that it is theirs. Because we have followed that rule the section has become one of the best read features of the paper. Through the years some of the historic battles of Canada's turbulent political history have raged in these columns. Some of them have had their genesis there.

A minimum of censorship should be imposed. It has always seemed presumptuous to us to set aside space for the public and then impose the editor's views on its opinions. Naturally, letters must be scanned for libel and violations of good taste. And there must, of course, be a check on those who attempt to say in a value what could be said in 200 words. This is necessary out of fairness to other contributors.

No Supreme Arbitrator

The editor must always guard against settling himself up as the supreme arbiter. There is always a temptation to declare contributions to be the products of "crack-pots" or "cranks." It is well in this respect to remember the old definition of a "crack-pot." Someone who hasn't YET attracted a large following to his notions or who hasn't money enough to publish a newspaper of his own. We have seen, in our time, some of the "crack-pot" ideas expounded in the letters to the editor become the accepted law of the land.

One of the persistent problems in conducting a voice section is the matter of establishing policy regarding unsigned communications. We have long followed the rule that letters must carry the name and address of the writer. He may have the name and address withheld from publication by so indicating, but they must be in the hands of the editor. This has resulted in many a stormy session in the editor's sanctum, when, for example, an irate public official calls to demand the identity of his critic.

To violate the trust imposed in the editor by a writer deprives a voice section of one of its most valuable qualities. The section can become an alert sentinel for good government. Many abuses on the part of public officials have come to light and have been corrected because a conscientious subordinate knows there is a public forum available to him by which he can call attention to such abuses without losing his or her job.

For Editorial Page

A vicarious, interesting voice section adds a lot of work to the regular chores of the keeper of the editorial page—and the section should always be on that page. It is a lot easier to dispense with the whole thing, or at least to insist that all communications be typed to save the grueling copy reading of what, often times, looks like a couple of game cocks dipped their feet in ink and engaged each other in mortal combat on a piece of paper.

But an editor might as well make up his mind that the work is to be an inevitable part of his daily work, if he really wants to run a news paper that will help to keep democracy a vigorous way of life.

Yes, "Your right to know is the key to your liberties," but "your right to let others know what you know" is also an important guardian of those liberties. One musthead states in this way, "Let the people have the truth and the freedom to discuss it and all will go well."

Namaka Notes

by Mrs. E. B.

Sunday afternoon last a prairie fire started near the C.P.R. crossing, south of Newells and raced across grass land owned by F. L. Aitkens, H. D. Parker and Harry Little. Fanned by a heavy wind, the fire had gained considerable progress before first noticed. People throughout the Community however, showed up promptly and with the aid of tractors and plows, the fire was brought under control in about an hour and a half. Fortunately no farm buildings were in the path of the blaze and damage was confined to pasture land, stubble and fence.

Mr. and Mrs. Loy Wheeler and Douglas left last week for Tompkins, Sask. where they will visit relatives for several days.

Miss Lydia Little left Sunday evening for Simons Valley where she will be employed for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Aitkens visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bennett on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Stettner and family enjoyed a goose dinner with Mr. and Mrs. H. Newell and family on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jones and family and Ruben Watts of Calgary spent Sunday with Mrs. M. A. Watts.

Marge Mackie and Ken Greenlow spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Schumann and family.

J. Vermont Takes Over Front End of Bakery

Operates Cafe as In Past Years

The Strathmore Cafe, in the front of the Bakery, has again been taken over by Jack Vermont, and will be operated by him once more in conjunction with the bakery which he has operated for the past few years.

The cafe was under management of Mrs. L. C. Lockhart for the past few months. Mrs. Lockhart has taken over the former Club Cafe and with a partner will operate it as the Nu-Way Cafe.

Not many changes are envisioned by Mr. Vermont, who operated the cafe prior to Mrs. Lockhart assuming control. His son, Johnny, will handle most of the baking in the rear, which will leave Jack free to handle the front end. He plans to handle the same style of lunches and snacks as in the past, and will specialize in staple dinners.

Regium Mass was celebrated at St. Rita's Church on Tuesday morning at 10:00 a.m. and burial took place in the Rockyford Cemetery. Pallbearers were Messrs, E. J. Feaser, Gerald Munchrath, Sylvan Munchrath, Edwin Munchrath, Zeno Henke, and Emmett Henke.

Full Teaching Staff for Schools in Bow Valley

All schools at present in operation in the Bow Valley School Division are now fully staffed. This is the first time in the past few years that the Division has been in such a favorable position in respect to teachers.

A new heating system to be installed in the Arrowwood School has been approved by the Board. This will give Arrowwood a fully modern air-conditioned system. Installation procedures are now well under way and should be completed shortly.

At a previous meeting of the Board of Trustees the secretary was instructed to call for tenders on supplying coal to all the schools in the Bow Valley School Division. The tender submitted by Mr. A. Hansen has been accepted. Nearly all the bins in the various schools have now been filled. These bins will again be filled at a later date before impassable winter roads set in.

A resolution from the local board at Queenstown requesting that their school be wired for electric lighting and that 50 percent of the expense involved be charged to their trust fund was approved by the Divisional Board. It is also understood that Queenstown is considering the purchase, from trust funds, of a 16 mm sound projector. This should prove a highly desirable type of instructional equipment and would be very useful in this centre.

Milo has also taken steps to obtain a sound projector. An additional room will be available in this centre for projection purposes. It is understood that the Pioneer school, presently located in the Milo site, has been completely renovated and set up as a primary room. This is a fairly large room and should adequately accommodate grades 1, 11 and 111 in Milo.

Farm News

Produced by the Alberta Department of Agriculture
WHY STOOP TO MILK?

Every farmer owes it to himself and his help to devise and adopt ways to eliminate unnecessary labour. Men are not machines, and they shouldn't try to match themselves with the untiring effort of gasoline or electric motors.

Take milking, for instance. Stoop labour can be avoided in mechanical milking. "Dairy Digest" points out, by standing the cow on a platform at about pocket height to the attendant. The simplest design is a cow ramp leading to the platform stalls. Some dairymen use a two-level floor with one floor about 30 inches higher than the other.

In either case the attendant does all his work standing up. That relieves fatigue and speeds the chore. Gone is the rat race of bustling around for this and that, squinting again to adjust the test cups, and up again, down again in order to keep up with the electric-powered milking machines.

If a job is to be mechanized, it should be 100 per cent mechanized to avoid making humans compete with machinery.

A BOMBER GOES FARMING

The work of dismantling a Liberator bomber he bought from War Assets Corporation for $300 provides plenty of spare-time work and much useful material for a Surrey, B.C. farmer, Al Watson, reports "Farm Service News."

A maze of complicated machinery, the bomber is expected to yield, as the main items, salvage wire, tubing, heaters, and electric motors.

Mr. Watson plans to use the bullet carriage as a horizontal feed conveyor to deliver feed to laying pens from an elevator. The conveyor will be driven by a small electric motor and will do away with the labor of carrying feed to the second story of the double-deck laying house.

A neighbor has put in a bid for the landing wheels for use on a tractor.

Cluny Notes

Two Cluny girls won second prize at Girls Club week in Olds. Dorothy Gordon and Dolores Gutarath were the team coming second.

When we consider that Cluny hasn't had a Home Economics teacher for several years and it was the girls' first year in both Home Economics and Club work both they and their teacher Mrs. Derrick are to be congratulated.

As the first prize went to a team in Bow Island, it gives us some idea how many they had to compete against.

The Cluny club called themselves the Cooking Cravers and both cooking and sewing of all members was indeed commendable. We wish them every success in this year's work.

Cluny farmers have almost completed their harvest. A few more days of nice weather will see operations pretty well completed. Elevators are almost completely blocked owing to a shortage of cars for shipping.

FIVE SCOUTS RHODES SCHOLARS

At least five of the 1948 Rhodes Scholars for Canada were former members of the Boy Scouts Association. They are Benson Wilson, of London, Ont., Douglas G. Anglin, Toronto; Richard Gordon of Edmonton; Donald Francis Coates, of Montreal and Jean H. J. Gerin-Lajole of Montreal.

UNDER THE STREETLAMP

"It says here," said Betty Martin, "that a nautical mile is nearly one seventh more than a land mile. How can that be, Ralph?" And Ralph replied: "Well, dear, you know how things swell in the water."

We have it from Doug MacKenzie—Women are like pecks, and should be changed frequently.

A couple of colonels were chatting in the following vein: "How's Hemmingway, of the 80th Foot, getting on?" "Oh, he's getting on fine." "And Cartwright of the 25th?" "Oh, he's very well." "By the way, how's your sister?" "Oh, she's gone off to Blackpool with gout." "Gad, man—no gout of the 17th?"

Gerry Robison is killing his friends this week with this story: "Did you hear about the owl that married a goat? They had a hoot-nanny!"

Two Negroes were discussing the relative merits of the Sun and the Moon:

Sam—"De sun am de bes'; dey can't be no doubt 'bout dat. Look at how much mo' light she give dan de moon. You ain't tryin' to convince me dat de moonlight am brighter dan de sunlight, is you?"

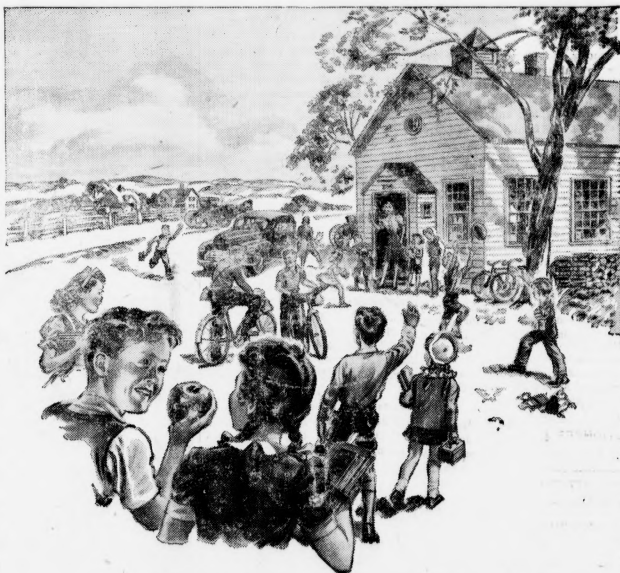

Joe—"Dat's all right 'bout de sun givin' mo' light dan de moon, but you is got to remember dat de moon deserves de most credit because de light she gives comes at night when it's dark, while de sun shine in de day time when it am light anyhow."

Peggy Crockett: "Did you put the cat out?"
Leyton Crockett: "No, I didn't know he was on fire."

A lawyer was questioning a farmer concerning the truthfulness of a neighbor.

"Wal," said the farmer. "I wouldn't exactly say he was a liar, but when it comes time to feed his hawks he has to git somebody else to call 'em for him."

And Bud Tench informs us that tobacco is found in many of the Southern States and in some cigars.

Wedding

BETCHER — LARSEN

Central United Church, Calgary. was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 7:30 p.m. Saturday Oct. 2nd, when marriage vows were exchanged between Miss Edith Larsen of Nightingale, and L/Cpl. Wilfred Lawrence Betcher of Sundre, Alta. Marriage lines were read by the Reverend Horace Lapp.

Escorted to the flower-decked altar by her brother Thor, the bride wore a dress of white brocaded satin which featured lily point sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Her floor-length veil was gathered to a beaded coronet, and she carried a bouquet of red roses tied with white satin ribbon. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Edith Larsen, and Miss Ruth Feddemma. Miss Larsen was dressed in a yellow taffeta gown with matching shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Feddemma wore a dress of powder blue sheer with matching veil and carried a bouquet of red carnations.

The groom was attended by Mr. Robert Bartlett and guests were ushered by Mr. Norman Wheat and Mr. Leslie Dahlgren.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Betty Walsh sang the ever-lovely "Because".

Following the wedding, a reception for fifty guests was held at the Son's of England Hall. For the occasion the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna Larsen, wore a printed crepe dress with matching accessories in pink, and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. Henry Betcher, wore a black dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Robert Bartlett and ably responded to by the groom.

The happy couple will spend their honeymoon in Banff. For travelling the bride changed to a two piece grey dress with matching topcoat and grey accessories.

On their return, they plan to make their home in Calgary.

In a small city in Wales 60 new bungalows were built and were fitted with the "one-way" glass in bathrooms, the kind of glass that enables one to see out, but is opaque to those who look in. However the carpenters got all the glass set in wrong side out.

Women Only. . .

FEAR SHORTAGE OF NUTS-IN-SHELL

So far there's nothing encouraging in sight as to imports of nuts in the shell for Christmas, says the Canadian Grocer.

"Apart from peanuts, they were on Mr. Abbott's banned list of last November," states the grocery business paper. "Representations have been made to Ottawa to put them on a quota basis, and if the Government does relax its restrictions this might happen any time. Otherwise we are going to be short of nuts in the shell during coming months."

Some wholesalers may have a few walnuts and almonds in the shell left over from last year—more almonds, perhaps, than walnuts. Some retailers, too, have a few left. Providing they have been kept in proper storage, they may be used as displays for pre-Christmas trade. Canada will, of course, have plenty of various shelled nuts.
